DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election without traverse of Group I, claims 1-6, and Species A, as depicted by Figures 1-3, upon which each of elected claims 1-6 reads thereon, in the reply filed on June 11, 2004 is acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Akhtar et al '612 (Figs. 10 and 11; col. 6, lines 47-67; col. 7, lines 1-7; col. 10, lines 38-42; col. 13, lines 9-13, 26-49; col. 14, lines 29-33, 39-41, 53-67; col. 15, lines 1-2)

Applicant should note that the reference clearly discloses a combination of a sound attenuating apparatus arranged on the top outlet end of an air handling heat exchanger (note Figs. 10 and 11 and the discussion applicable thereto as cited above). As broadly recited, applicant's claimed cooling tower is anticipated by the air handling heat exchanger of the reference.

The applied reference has a common inventor with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Akhtar et al '612.

Akhtar et al '612 (Figs. 10 and 11) as applied above substantially disclose applicant's invention as recited by instant claim 6, except for the outer annular wall being cylindrical and extending upwardly to the air outlet of the attenuator. While Figs. 10 and 11 of the reference clearly indicate that the outer annular wall is cylindrical, the reference does indicate that the outlets from the outer annular wall are formed in the sides of a cubic housing. Wherein modifying the shape of the outlet walls from cubic form to a cylindrical outlet would not effect the air flow therefrom in any appreciable manner, it would have been obvious to an artisan at the time of the invention, to modify the shape of the outer wall section of the reference apparatus to cylindrical, since such would eliminate the need for additional unnecessary structure. It is noted that when the attenuator structure as depicted by Figures 10 and 11 of the reference is used as an outlet silencer rather than an inlet silencer, as suggested by the reference discussion, elimination of the squared housing walls would actually promote smoother outlet flow and reduce noise caused by flow through the grills of a squared housing.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
